

July 9, 2021 / Somerset, New Jersey

PPE Solutions Group (PSG) announces deliveries of FDA registered and cleared high quality, powder-free nitrile medical examination gloves.

PPE Solutions Group (PSG) is proud to announce deliveries of our high quality Velaris Nitrile™ Powder-Free Medical Exam Gloves. Initial orders have been fulfilled to a number of enterprise level clients, including US Hospital Groups and Large Medical Supply Sales Companies.

Over the last year, PSG cemented long-term production commitments with their state-of-the-art manufacturer's production facilities. These production contracts were secured by PSG's financial resources and thru financial partners in the US, EU and South Korea. PSG is poised for an exponential expansion of production and deliveries into the US market.

PSG's manufacturers source and utilize premium quality materials. PSG gloves meet or exceed the strict FDA guidelines and standards for medical usage. PSG's gloves are FDA registered and manufactured in accordance with ISO 9001:2015. 510(k) Number K131823. PSG, as FDA Importer of Record, has also implemented the latest packaging and labeling FDA guidelines to ensure ease of US Customs Entry and release into the US marketplace.

PSG's Commitment to Small and Medium Sized (SME) Customers

PSG is offering our Velaris Nitrile™ Medical Exam Glove to the small and medium sized medical facility segments. PSG target customers include medical practices, surgical centers, assisted living facilities, urgent care centers, and other medical providers. The mission is clear: To provide the highest quality medical gloves at competitive prices to SME buyers, by offering short term and long-term delivery options and purchase contracts.

PSG's National Sales Director Steve Braun, states: "Produced in state-of-the-art, super-efficient manufacturing facilities, the Velaris Nitrile™ Medical Exam Glove offers our valued customers a top-quality product that is competitively priced. We are so ahead of the curve that even small volume purchasers get great pricing. These efficiencies we have achieved in manufacturing and distribution give us an economic edge over our competitors, and PSG is more than happy to pass these economics along to our entire customer base from the enterprise level hospital systems right through to physician group practices. Meeting the demand of our most exacting users is job one, and we are excited to offer our nation's medical professionals with this top-quality exam glove."

About Us: PSG is a privately owned US company that imports and distributes FDA regulated medical devices into the United States. Headquartered in New Jersey, PSG distributes to all 50 States, US Territories. PSG also has a division for international sales.

Contact: Steve Braun

Office: (609) 512-1014

Mobile: (609) 977-5885

SBraun@ppesolutionsgroup.com